CURRICULUM VITAE

HI, I'M MARIO GRIMALDI

>_ LET ME INTRODUCE MYSELF

I started out as desktop software developer and gradually moved into web development both on client and server side, along with hybrid mobile applications and ReST API design.

I am an ambitious individual continually searching for sources and experiences to improve myself and people I work with, through conversation, listening and research.

Firm believer of great cross-functional teams where growth, collaboration and passion are the main ingredients for high quality and valueable software. My main interests are torwards the development of great projects, both on technical and functional sides.

I'm currently the technical product owner of a strategic product in my company, trying to balance clean working code with client valuable functionalities, all mixed up with a continuously engaged and growing team (and fun retrospetives).
